

Lecture by Primrose Wilson CBE
Eighteen years of the Follies Trust

The Old Museum Building, 7 College Square North, Belfast

Thursday 7th November 2024

7pm – 8.30 pm

Since the formation of the Follies Trust in 2006, it has conserved more than thirty structures. Some are prominent buildings, like the O'Brien column beside the Cliffs of Moher, while others are more modest, like The Murland Mausoleum in Clough, Co. Down.

Over many years, Primrose Wilson has worked tirelessly to promote and conserve architectural heritage. She has a long association with Ulster Architectural Heritage, serving previously as the Society's Chair and currently as its President. As well as being the Founder and Chair of the Follies Trust, Primrose is also Vice-President of The Irish Georgian Society.

In her lecture, Primrose will describe the highs and lows of the last eighteen years and will illustrate her talk with 'before and after' pictures of the structures that the Follies Trust has conserved.

Members: £8 Non-members: £12 Students: £3

Light refreshments will be served from 6.30 pm.

Lecture to start promptly at 7 pm.

Venue: The Old Museum Building, 7 College Square North, Belfast. BT1 6AR

